

MODDING SUPPORT REQUEST

Hi.

Acrylikustoms is looking for a few modders who would like to be sponsored on a regular basis.

Although Acrylikustoms does not have a regular program to provide free products to enthusiastic hobbyists or professional modders we would like to provide the chosen modder with our products with special discount to create content and projects.

In return we just ask that you can provide high resolution images and if possible video content to us for us to use on social media and our website.

We might, occasionally support extremely talented modders who can show a unique build or a new take on builds which will also put our products name in a good light. In this particular case we can send products for free.

Summing the more notorious you are the more the changes are to be given free support free of charge.

If you think you are one of these especially talented people, please email to acrylikustoms@gmail.com and we can discuss directly.

Your contact is always appreciated

Gonçalo Simões

Conditions for accepting sponsorship

We only accept the properly filled out online application form, emails written via the web form on the Contact page will not be considered.

1. You need to demonstrate experience in modding. We usually do not support first-time modders.
2. You need to have an online presence with a substantial number of followers on Facebook, Twitter, YouTube, forums or other social media channels.
3. In case you are selected for sponsorship, we expect that you to send feedback to us regularly about your progress. You need to have a substantial online presence where a large number of people can view your modding process.
4. Acrylikustoms reserves the right to use of all images of your mod for marketing purposes. Please complete the application form below and we will get back to you as soon as possible to inform you whether your sponsorship request was granted.
